Announcement: AIFN got registered as a general incorporated association

The Association of International Foods and Nutrition (“AIFN”) announces that it got registered as a general incorporated association on April 1, 2011.

As a global trade organization, AIFN (formerly known as NNFA Japan) has been committed for more than a decade to encourage deregulation and legislation on dietary/food supplements with domestic and international associated organizations. Especially its activities to fulfill international harmonization through the collaborative partnership with U.S. trade organizations have been highly-esteemed at home and abroad, as those activities are representing the organization’s name.

AIFN also carries out a broad range of domestic activities including offering diverse information to the members and organizing educational and beneficial seminars. In recent years, more social roles and responsibility are expected over time. As a part of measures to meet such expectation, AIFN got registered as a general incorporated association on April 1, 2011.

By enhancing activities of the organization and its public-spiritedness with the transformation, AIFN aims to respond social needs more quickly and accurately, as well as achieve further reliability. Your continued support will be greatly appreciated.
