WORKING TOWARDS THE UN'S SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT GOALS

As world leaders gathered in Glasgow for the United Nations COP26 summit on climate change, IADSA held a virtual 100 Minutes meeting for members focusing on the theme of sustainability in the supplements sector. This provided a platform to share details of IADSA's Guiding Principles on Sustainability.

The session was highly interactive with contributions from delegates from across the world that will help to further shape IADSA's sustainability strategy going forward. Trade media have shown considerable interest in this area, with a number of requests for interviews.

IADSA SPEAKS

IADSA continues to speak at member and external events. These include the Annual Meeting of HPA South Africa, a webinar of Global Prebiotic Association and the Annual Meeting of HSIAS Singapore. In addition, Simon Pettman was invited to speak at a live event organised by Codex Alimentarius focussing on how observer organisations can best contribute to the aims of Codex.

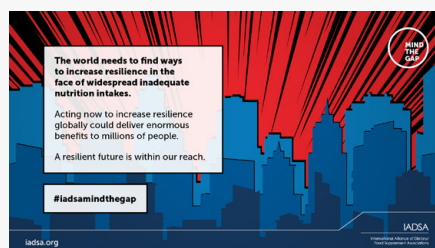

TURKEY 2030 VISION

Our Turkish member association, GTBD, recently held a workshop of leading government officials and members to address the future of the industry. IADSA was invited to provide global perspectives. This workshop was an important step for both government and industry in Turkey to address the current challenges, build further confidence and develop a joint plan for a 2030 Vision for the supplement sector.

MTG RESILIENCE

Resilience and immune health are in the spotlight in the new Mind the Gap resource. This new story explores how supporting immune health through nutrition is essential to resilience. It also highlights how 2 billion people across the world do not consume adequate nutrients, making it harder for them to maintain a normally functioning immune system.

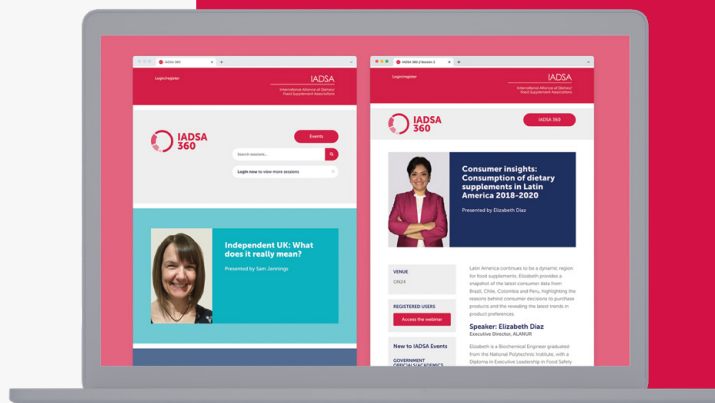

INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS ON NUTRITION (ICN), TOKYO 2022

The next global meeting of the world's nutrition societies will take place in Japan next year. Further to the IADSA session at the last ICN in Argentina in 2018 on the role of supplements in nutrition and health, IADSA is a Congress Partner for ICN in Tokyo. IADSA 360 REFRESH

As the library of IADSA 360 webinars continues to grow, a refresh of its look is being launched. IADSA 360 is a platform to build knowledge and expertise around supplements. Themes include regulatory analysis, consumer insights and scientific developments, among others, presented by experts in their fields. The webinars have been developed to be short and concise and are accompanied by relevant resources to download. All webinars are on demand and can be accessed at any time by direct IADSA members and government.
